

Wristlet Pincushion by Amber Kay DeWitt

Wristlet Pincushion by Amber Kay DeWitt

Supplies:

- fabric scrap (14"x5")
- 1 1/2" velcro (1" width)
- polyfill stuffing
- matching thread
- fabric marker

1. Cut fabric. Then cut a strip of velcro 1 1/2" long.

2. Fold ends toward wrong side of fabric by 1/4" and press. Fold again by 1/2" and press.

3. Fold fabric in half lengthwise, right sides together. Pin in place. Mark the center of the fabric with the fabric marker and measure 1 1/2" from that point on either side. Mark these points (this will create the 3" opening in the center of the band). Sew with a 1/2" seam allowance from either end up to this mark.

4. Turn right sides out and press flat with seam in the back center. Using a zigzag stitch, sew one side of your velcro strip to one end of the band, as pictured. Sew the other velcro piece to the underside of the band on the opposite end.

5. Mark the center of the band and again measure 1 1/2" out from that point to determine your 3" center pouch. Sew a line down either side to separate the pouch from the wristband.

6. Turn over the band and stuff the pincushion section tightly with polyfill. Sew closed by hand.